

Stimson Lumber Company
Oregon Lands Public Access Policy
Revised 8/22/2023
(Subject to modification without notice)

Stimson Lumber Company owns and manages approximately 175,000 acres of commercial timberland in northwest Oregon. It is Stimson's policy to open its lands to those forms of public recreation that are compatible with the management goals and activities on the forests. This policy is a significant change from past policies and will be amended as experience makes necessary.

The employees and associates of Stimson that manage these lands work continually to maintain and improve their productivity and appearance and take great satisfaction in their accomplishments. This public access policy can only be maintained if the guests using these lands share this attitude and commitment. Littering, vandalism or other negligent or malicious treatment of these properties by the public will result in the closure of the affected lands

This access policy is intended for individual/family recreation. Large groups, clubs and other organized or sanctioned events are not permitted as a part of this policy.

All of these properties are Industrial Forestland and are managed as such. Roads and trails are not built nor maintained to public transportation standards. No provisions have been made for food, water, sanitation, communication or emergency services on the ownership... There is no guarantee that these lands are safe for any purpose.

Stimson's employees, associates and contractors may be in the woods at any time of day or night, as well as any day of the week. The movement and maintenance of machinery and facilities, the application of herbicide and fertilizer and other management activities may start without notice and frequently are mobile in nature. These activities often include the use of power equipment and motor vehicles on roads that may be closed to public use of motor vehicles. Restrictions on the timing and nature of public access are intended to reduce, but cannot eliminate public exposure to the risks and hazards associated with timber and land management activities.

The following stipulations and limitations apply to any and all public use of Stimson lands:

1. All users enter at their own risk. There is no assurance that the property is safe for any purpose.
2. During fire season, all users must comply with Oregon Department of Forestry regulations and requirements related to access, and use of forestlands. (ORS 477.535 to 477.550)
3. All public access is closed when Industrial Fire Precaution Level reaches level II (2) or higher. See following link for Current Fire Restrictions and Closures:
www.oregon.gov/ODF/Fire/Pages/Restrictions.aspx
4. No public entry is permitted into active industrial areas, logging sites, road construction areas or other similar sites. Users must avoid conflict or interference with any and all forest management activities.

5. No public camping, campfires, open flame (cooking stoves/jet boils) or other over-night use is permitted.
6. No motor vehicle use is permitted off road or on un-surfaced trails or roads.
7. No removal of forest or mineral products is permitted. This includes minor forest products such as firewood, mushrooms, plants & plant material, boughs, etc.
8. No trapping is permitted, nor any activity that requires or includes the placement or deposition of personal property (game cams, tents, etc.) on Stimson lands. Personal property intentionally left on the property is subject to confiscation.
9. Public discharge of firearms is limited to activities directly related to Big Game and Upland Bird Hunting, as regulated by the Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife. Public varmint hunting and target shooting are not allowed.
10. No, ATV's, UTV's, motorcycles, or motorized (combustion, electric or pedal assist) bicycles, tricycles, unicycles, boards or scooters.
11. When and where motor vehicles are permitted, vehicles must be licensed and properly insured passenger cars or trucks only.
12. Permission to enter Stimson land does not convey any right or permission to enter or cross neighboring private lands.
13. No drones may be used from Stimson Lumber Company lands.
14. Consumption of alcohol is not allowed while on Stimson lands.
15. Gates will not be opened to allow for pack out.
16. Dogs are allowed as long as they are under the direct control of the owner.

Additional limitations apply on a tract-by-tract basis, please read and observe the restrictions listed below for the specific tract, or area that you intend to enter.

Other Tracts:

Among Stimson's ownership are numerous smaller tracts from 10 to 1,000 acres in size. Because these tracts are intermingled with other ownerships and are often adjacent to rural residences, Stimson does not publish the location of these tracts nor provide maps or other information. Any individual using these properties has the personal responsibility to know local roads, property lines, dwellings or other buildings, to avoid trespassing on adjacent private property and to conduct all activities in a safe manner. Unless otherwise posted, the public may use these tracts for non-motorized recreational use as permitted under General Recreation use.

General Recreation:

These tracts are generally open to non-motorized recreational use weekdays from 4:00 p.m. until sunset, weekends and designated holidays sunrise to sunset (see holiday list above) or "As Posted"

Parking space may be limited. Users must avoid obstructing access to Stimson's or any neighboring properties. Parked vehicles found obstructing traffic or any point of entry (gate) will be towed at owner's expense.

Bow Season: Walk-in/Pack-out hunting is permitted during open season within the days and hours allowed under general recreation. Motor vehicle access is restricted to Stimson employees and associates possessing valid entry permits.

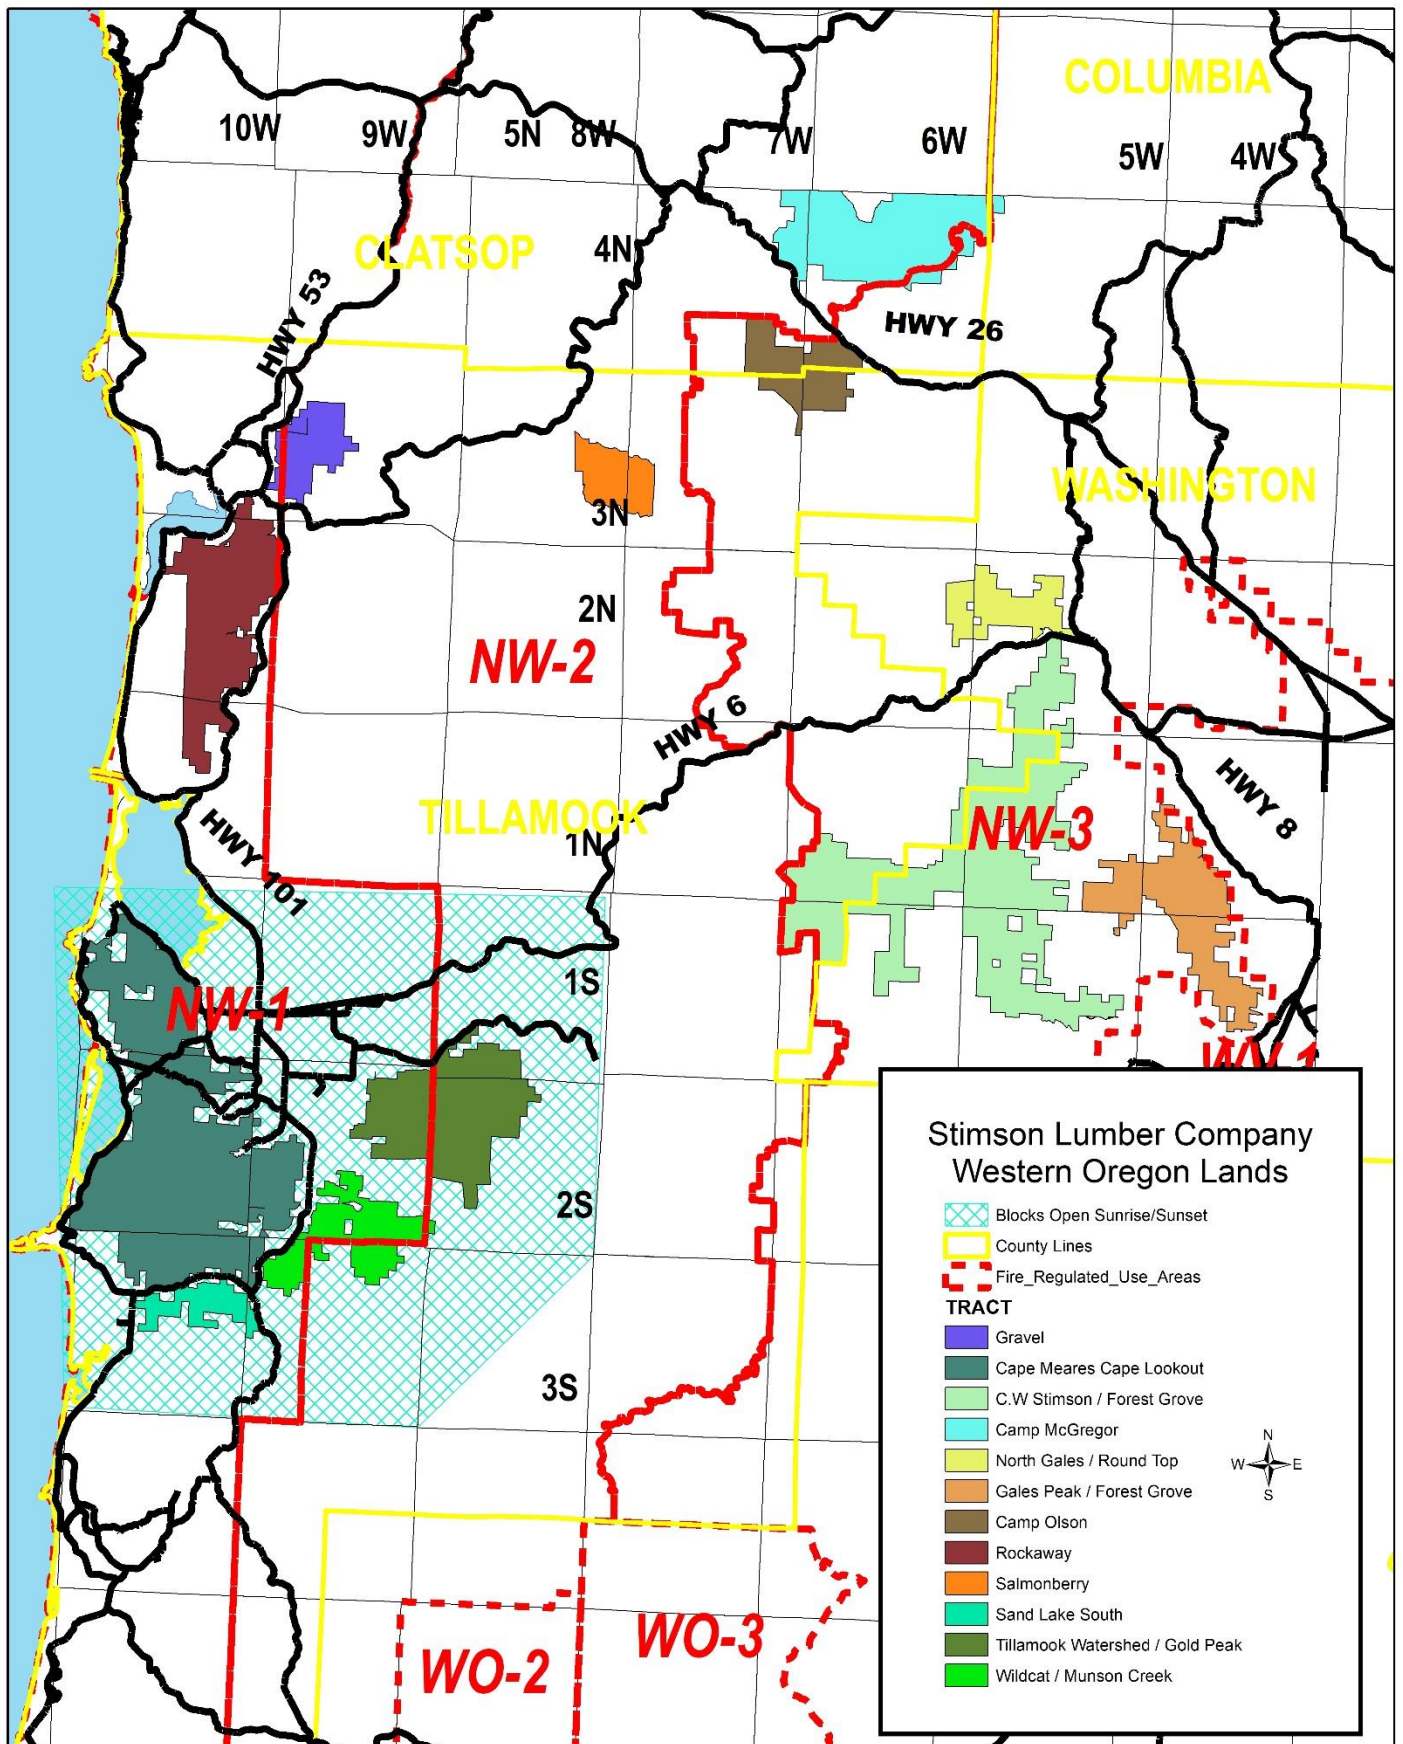

General Rifle Seasons: Walk-in/Pack-out hunting is permitted during open season within the days and hours allowed under general recreation. Motor vehicle access is restricted to Stimson employees and associates possessing valid entry permits.

Sensitive Areas:

These areas are closed to the public as a means of reducing the impacts of trespass, vandalism and inconsiderate or dangerous hunting practices on Company lands and the neighboring landowners. These areas are presently described as: The lands associated with the Mill Site in Scoggins Valley, on David Hill near Forest Grove, along the lower two and one half miles of Sain Creek Road west of Henry Hagg lake, within ¼ mile of Tanner Creek Road north of Henry Hagg lake, along Potts Road near the community of Gales Creek, and Tolke Canyon near Manning.

Ownership Maps:

The following maps are provided for the purpose of finding the general location of Stimson properties and the primary access points to those properties. There is no suggestion or guarantee of their suitability for any other purpose.
